

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am wondering if you can help me. I am a married man, have three children. My wife and I had a quarrel. Her relatives interfered, and she has begun proceedings against me for divorce.

I am not a drinking man, I love my home and my children. I have a beautiful home here in this city, furnished nicely. It is in my name. After the papers were served on me I was turned out of doors and have to wait now for trial.

My wife has kept roomers and had all the money from this source aside from money that I gave her. I have kept a maid for her right along. She tells me now that she hates me and has even told others that she hates and despises me. She has also said some of the vilest things about me and also has told things that should have never left the four walls of her room. She is tired of me and wants to get rid of me.

She talks terribly to me before the children and also talks very mean to me about my family.

She wants the home and the children. I have nothing else aside from the home which I earned myself.

Can she get a divorce?

Will the courts give her everything that I have earned?

Will the courts be liable to give her the custody of all the children?

READER.

The court will give you a fair trial. Unless there is some good reason why you would not be a fit guardian for the children, I doubt if you will be deprived of them entirely, of the home in any event. Whether she can get a divorce or not, of course I do not know. It will depend largely upon your defense and the grounds urged by your wife, and the manner in which the court interprets the laws as they affect your case.

If your wife is tired of you and hates you, I should think you would welcome freedom from her, even though it took part of your material possessions. You can always build again. The children, of course, are another matter, and worth a hard fight.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a girl of 15, but go about with girls two or three years older than myself. I am quite popular with the girls, but when the boys are together and I pass by them with other girls they jeer at me and one of the other girls, although when I am alone with any one of them they are very courteous to me. What can I do to stop their jeering?

(2) If at a party a boy wishes to see me home what should I say if I wish to accept and if I don't want to accept?

(3) What will develop the bust? My bust measure is about 32 inches. Is it not too small for my age?

JEAN.

(1) Do not pay any attention to such ungentlemanly boys, my dear little girl. Ignore them so entirely that they will get no satisfaction out of their ill manners.

(2) If you wish to accept, tell him you will be pleased to have his escort. If you don't wish to accept, tell him you are sorry and thank him, but have already made arrangements for getting home.

(3) You bust is not too small at your age. It will grow as you get older. Deep breathing and plenty of exercise will help a great deal. Get some of the exercise by helping mother with the housework. Kneading bread, sweeping floors are some of the very best exercises for developing a beautiful bust and arms.

MARRIED THIRTEEN YEARS.

TODAY REV. AND MRS. M. E. Chatley, the former pastor of the Memorial Christian church, are celebrating the 13th anniversary of their marriage. A peculiar coincidence is in the fact that the 13th anniversary of their marriage is on the 13th of the month in the year 1913. Their marriage took place Nov. 13, 1900, at Springfield, Ohio, and although the day was on the 13th and a stormy one at that, the 13 hoodoo has not worked in their case, and their life has been a happy and prosperous one. All the sheerest and softest of fabrics are favored for blouses. Crepe de chine, chiffon, net and lace. Colors are bright. It is not unusual to see an entire bodice fashioned of silk in a vivid red or yellow combined with a darker skirt that harmonizes. Caprian blue is a charming color in crepe de chine and would make up very effectively in 1913. The skirt (8022) could be made of tulle in the same or a contrasting shade. A modish afternoon gown will result. To copy this blouse (7967) in size 36 it requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch silk.

ENTERTAINMENT NUMBER.

Monday evening, Nov. 11, at the Central Presbyterian church, the second number of the entertainment course offered by the Rock Island Young People's Presbyterian union will be presented by a company known as the "English Opera Singers." This is one of the finest numbers on a course of good numbers, and consists of a mixed quartet which presents scenes from grand opera, from popular opera in costume, popular selections, and selections from some of the famous oratorios. The increasing demand for musical attractions of both genuine artistic ability as well as a certain degree of spectacular interest, has at once placed the English Opera Singers among the most sought after chautauqua attractions. The excellence of their program is based primarily upon the quality of the voices in its personnel, voices of much more than ordinary range, well cultivated and carefully coached in the style of program they render.

The first concert given on this course was one of much interest and real musical worth, and the entertainment to take place on Monday evening promises to be above the average. These attractions are the results of an effort on the part of the Young People's Presbyterian union, to present a series of varied musical entertainments which will be of a high grade, interesting musically, and given under clean

Mrs. Gertrude Wynn gave a most able report of the district convention which was held at Hushnell Nov. 3. Mrs. Alice Puck was elected district president at that time, and the next convention, it was announced, will be held in Rock Island in November, 1914.
